

With the growth of packaging sector & boom in retail market in India,demand of high quality packaging material for food & daily household items is increasing. In order to meet the international standards in quality & services, we have introduced above products (Polymer resins) for flexible packaging processors & Indian society to have better food quality with excellent asthetic look & with better shelf life of packed food .